Opinions of the Chief Court

17/1/15

The CHIEF JUDGE :- 2) I agree with the proposal except that I do not see why the Advocate should be a man of 10 years standing. If he is doing good practice that is the main point but I doubt if we can safely lay down any rule as to the position of the advocate or pleader under whom the candidate is apprenticed; and I would not limit the candidate to the Mysore Bar: it would do him no harm to serve his apprenticeship in Bombay or Madras.

22/1/15

Mr. Justice K.S. CHANDRASEKHARA AIYAR :- 3) From what I have heard of the apprenticeship system elsewhere, I think the waste of time and money (in payment to the senior) involved exceeds the advantage advantage derived by the junior. In my opinion it is not needed here.

Mr. Justice T. PARAMASIVA IYER :- (4) I agree with Mr. Justice Chandrasekhara Aiyar. As a rule an Advocate or Pleader attaches himself to begin with to a senior practitioner which ~~seems~~ serves the object of the proposed rule. If he has the will and capacity to practise independently I don't think we should compel him to drudge as an apprentice, though such drudgery in a subordinate position may afford useful training to a majority of practitioners.

6) I am inclined to agree on the whole. But since the Bh. J. favours apprenticeship & we heard it for advocates some years ago, perhaps we may consider at a meeting whether it shd be revived so far as advocates are concerned.
